The Organizing Committee will open a "Delegates' Q&A E-Board" on our website, allowing delegates to pose questions of suggestions about invited lectures and beyond. Thank you for your participation in advance.

What's On!
Student Social Media Reporters Launched!
27 college students have been selected as SNS reporters! For seven months to the Congress, they are going to write articles and create contents on our website as well as different social media, promoting Congress on online to global veterinarians and other related professionals and students.

Bokbogi or Korean Lucky Bags
Bokbogi is a Korean traditional rice cracker. As known in the image and tradition, the Bokbogi was believed to gather luck. On the Day of the Lunar New Year, Koreans used to hang them on the wall of living, main rooms, and rooms to add the most luck for the year.
